As a front-end web developer with a background in customer service, I have a unique combination of technical and interpersonal skills. I am trained in front-end web development through Trilogy Education's coding boot camp and hold a certificate in this field. My passion for learning new skills and using them to solve problems makes me an asset to any team. I am able to work independently or as part of a team, and have strong communication skills, both verbal and written.

Skills

Experience section

August 2006 - Present

Royal Mail, Canterbury, UK

- I Deliver mail and parcels daily to around 500 delivery points consisting of business and residential customers
- Collaborated with managers and planners to implement the latest delivery revisions
- Demonstrated attention to detail and thoroughness to ensure accurate and timely deliveries
- Strong time management skills and ability to work independently
- Improved communication skills through daily interactions with customers and addressing concerns

July 2003 - August 2006

Cornford Amplification Whitstable, UK

As an experienced guitar amplifier builder, I have a diverse set of skills that I developed while working in a small company where I had a hand in all aspects of the business. My responsibilities included:

- Building hand-wired guitar amplifiers from scratch, including assembling components and ensuring that all parts were fitted correctly
- Diagnosing and troubleshooting equipment malfunctions, and performing repairs to ensure the amplifiers were in perfect working order
- Quality control, where I made sure each amplifier was in perfect condition before packing and shipping to shops or customers
- Customer service, where I interacted with clients to answer their questions and address any issues they had
- Sales and marketing, where I helped to promote the company's products and increase sales
